1. In March 1950 a number of engineers arrived in South Kwangtung with a large consignment of railway material. They are to construct a new Kwangtung-Kwangsi rail line which is intended to complete a network for the southwestern provinces of China. The line will start at Haiping (Fort Bayard (110-24, 21-11) and run through Yulinhsien (110-08, 22-38) to Liuchou (109-16, 24-18) where it will connect with the Kwangsi-Hunan and Kwangsi-Kueichou railways. Work on the southern branch is to be completed during 1950. In early May rails and other equipment were being shipped into Kwangchowwan (110- , 20- ).
2. On 17 May in Canton Kwangtung and Kwangsi authorities were discussing this line and another line which is to be constructed between Liuchou and Nanning (108-18, 22-48). The Communist Ministry of Railways has appointed SHIH CH'1-t'ien (石難天) as a special commissioner to Canton to take charge of the discussions, assisted by Gonorev,* a Soviet adviser, and Shchadevblen,* a Soviet engineer.
